

"STICK TO LAW," COOLIDGE TELLS SENATE

COOLIDGE VICTORY IN WEST SURPRISE EVEN TO FRIENDS

ONLY POLITICAL QUAKE CAN PREVENT HIS NOMINATION.

FIELD IS CLEAR

Illinois, Michigan and Nebraska Vote Takes Wind from Hiram's Sails.

By DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright 1924, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—The break in the Coolidge campaign, for the republican presidential nomination has come. Nothing but a political earthquake could now prevent the nomination of the president at Cleveland in June.

Mr. Coolidge has had from the start the support of the regular republican organization, which is all-powerful in the eastern states. It was not known what would be his strength in the presidential primaries. The victories in Nebraska and Illinois states in which he was expected to develop it all—has

U. S. SUPREME COURT HEARS WALTON PLEA

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington—One of the bitterest fights in the history of American jurisprudence was brought into the supreme court when it reached for argument the appeal of former Governor John C. Walton of Oklahoma to set aside his impeachment by the Oklahoma legislature. The federal district court for western Oklahoma had refused to review the impeachment proceedings.

Today the proceedings of the supreme court were continued by an effort by counsel for the former governor to bring consideration of the appeal proposed. Counsel for the Oklahoma house of representatives and other defendants opposed the move.

The appeal of the former governor was based on the ground that he had not been given a fair and impartial trial in the impeachment proceedings. He alleged the Ku Klux Klan and other influences dominated the Oklahoma house.

LENROOT LAND GRANT INQUIRY TO BE PUSHED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington—The house in the near future will be asked to give its approval to a sweeping investigation of the land grants to the Northern Pacific railway company, as proposed originally by Senator Lenroot and passed by the senate. The legislation has just been recommended to the house by the public lands committee, which used Lenroot's bill as the basis for the measure they reported, which goes much farther than the original one. The date before any of the pending claims of the Northern Pacific can be acted by the secretary of the interior.

WOOD DENIES PLAN TO QUIT PHILIPPINES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Manila—Reports emanating from the United States that he contemplated resigning were denied emphatically by Governor General Leonard Wood today.

"Nonpareil, I've given no thought to it," he said in a statement. "I'm here to carry out the policy of the home government. I stand squarely behind the policy outlined by President Coolidge in his letter of March 5 to Speaker Rogers."

In a letter to Manuel Roxas, chairman of the Philippine independence mission, President Coolidge on March 5 stated in his opinion the time was not ripe for separation of the Philippines from the United States.

It Was "Time To Re-tire"

But Mr. H. H. Prox, of Milton, Wisconsin, could not rest because when he reached home that night he found that he had lost his justice and rim.

He immediately phoned to a Gazette editor, however, and the day after his ad appeared the last parts were returned to him. That night he slept in peace.

Don't permit such a small thing as the loss of something you value to disturb you—Just call 2500 and cast your burden on an ad taker.

TOWN ELECTS WOMEN TO EVERY OFFICE

Some of the members of Columbus City, Iowa, administration of women (left to right): Mrs. R. W. Jamieson, Mrs. J. C. Ritchie, Miss Eva Bretz (the mayor), Mrs. Joe Allen and Mrs. Thomas Robertson.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Columbus City, Ia.—This city, metropolis of Iowa county, has, for a number of years enjoyed newspaper fame as the former home of Olga Humphrey, later Princess Hassan, who now is living in Paris on the income from $4,000,000 granted her by the British government from the estate of her husband, brother of the Calix of Egypt.

But no longer is the Princess Hassan Columbus City's sole hold on fame. Louisiana county's metropolis finds itself famous as the municipality that elected women to every public office in its election in which men candidates were overwhelmed.

The mayor now is Miss Eva Bretz; treasurer, Miss Mary Moore; assessor, Miss Nellie Moore; councilwomen, Mrs. J. C. Ritchie, Mrs. Joe Allen, Mrs. Thomas Robertson and Mrs. Joe Schuch (the latter does not plan to qualify for office).

The women's ticket was called the Independent ticket and the originators themselves were not the originators. George Kern, proprietor of a grocery and cafe, framed the ticket, obtained the necessary signatures to the petition and filed it.

Some say it was done as a joke. But the voters didn't consider it a joke. They decided to give the women a chance.

Sons Take up Financial Reins Dropped by Stinnes

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Berlin—Germany's "strong man" of industry is gone with the passing of Hugo Stinnes, and speculation is rife today as to the ultimate effect of his death on the internal situation and in reparation settlement.

Weakness by the effects of three major operations within four weeks, the man who would admit of no defeat in the markets of trade bowed last night to the ravages of disease. He was fully conscious to the end, and during the day conversed constantly with members of his family gathered at the bedside.

It was characteristic of him that even in the final hours he asked for the details of the Daves report on the reparation problem, and expressed satisfaction at recognizing what he professed were some of his own ideas among the recommendations made by the experts.

Next to the loss of his leadership over the industrial group, which wielded such important influence in the determination of German reparation policy, interest centers in the policy to be followed with regard to his affairs. He was always a matter of personal concern with him, and which he continued to supervise until the last.

The administration of these interests will devolve on his sons, Edmund and Hugo Jr., both of whom have been in close touch with their father's affairs during the last five years. Edmund, the elder of the two, is resident general director of the Stinnes offices in Berlin, while Hugo Jr. has had charge of his father's shipping interests in Hamburg.

The day was to be spent in examination of maps of the four planes and in the making of any minor repairs found necessary.

Some fans, Thursday afternoon, considered the noise as peculiar state, because of the approaching white clouds, and predicted a storm would break and clear the air.

Fans are asked to call the Gazette, Friday night, if they have any further trouble. The Gazette will stay on until midnight. Mr. Schmidley stated Friday he would be pleased to check again after Friday's test, particularly in the matter of determining the exact location of greatest intensity.

Mr. Schmidley made the suggestion Friday that a radio club might be formed in Janesville for the purpose of studying such troubles as this one, so that they might be located quickly and rapid co-operation be procured.

SINCLAIR COMPANY ASKS DISMISSAL OF FEDERAL SUIT

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Dismissal of the bill of complaint of the United States of America against the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company and the Sinclair Pipe Line company is petitioned for in answers by the two corporations filed in federal court here to the government's suit against the Mammoth Oil company and these corporations for annulment of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease.

The answer of the Mammoth company, the chief defendant, has not been filed. The thirty day time limit set for its filing will expire April 14.

The answer of the purchasing company sets forth that, relying upon rights of the Mammoth under its lease, the purchasing company "became the owner of 17 steel oil storage tanks and contents thereof" situated upon the naval reserve.

The pipe line company alleges that it has spent or will have spent on completion of its pipe line $18,000,000 as well as $700,000 for a pumping plant, machinery and appurtenances thereto and that this was done in faith that the Mammoth company's lease was valid.

The famous "gentlemen's agreement" under which Japanese immigration into the United States was curtailed, has been reduced to a condition of such a course.

RADIO FANS HERE REPORT TROUBLE

Five Nights of Interference Experienced—Cause Undetermined.

After five nights of interference the made radio reception almost impossible in Janesville and toward Edgerton, fans had a better evening, Thursday, after 8:30 p. m.

A. A. K. K. reported on Thursday that it was impossible to tune anything to the west or north and hardly anything beyond Chicago in the other direction. He reported on Thursday that it was impossible to tune anything to the west or north and hardly anything beyond Chicago in the other direction. He reported on Thursday that it was impossible to tune anything to the west or north and hardly anything beyond Chicago in the other direction.

The sound was continuous, popping occasionally with a blast that was terrific where head-phones were being used. Sometimes it made it difficult to tune even short stations.

No cause for the trouble was given. The Gazette radio department was given its first indications of the trouble shortly after it had started. A leaky transformer, a ground or a high line, The Janesville Electric company, through William R. Schmidley, manager, acknowledged the trouble. He reported on Thursday afternoon that he had not learned of anything wrong with his lines or plants and a check-up made by him with the transformer company showed no trouble anywhere. No trouble could be learned on the street car company's wires or bonds.

The trouble was not believed to be in the ground. Tests were made by a number of fans, who discovered the noise was just as continuous with or without the ground of their sets hooked up.

EMPLOYMENT OF CRIMINAL LAWYER DRAWS SHARP FIRE

INVESTIGATION METHODS BROUGHT UP SHORT BY PRESIDENT.

DANGER IS SEEN

Practices Would Throw Government Into Disorder, Declares Special Message.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington—President Coolidge in a message to the senate today advised that body to maintain its constitutional and legal rights in conducting investigations.

The message, couched in direct language, was occasioned by the action of the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, in employing Francis J. Heney of California as special prosecutor at the instance and at the expense of Senator Coughlin.

The president supplemented his message with a letter from Secretary Mellon, in which the secretary declared that should "unnecessary interference" with the proper exercise of his duty be continued, "neither I nor any man of character can longer take responsibility for the treasury."

Employment of Heney was declared by the president to be in conflict with law and a procedure likely to throw the government into disorder.

It is time we return to a government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land, the president said, "the state of the Union requires the immediate adoption of such a course."

The senate committee appointed to investigate the internal revenue of Heney had refused to authorize the employment of Heney. It was charged he was a criminal lawyer and a "smuck raker" and that he would not be able to handle only with out reference to the facts which were wanted. Doubt also was expressed that the committee had authority to employ such a person.

Senator Coughlin, however, connected with executive offices and it was only necessary to pass a resolution to secure a subpoena for Heney out of his own pocket and thereupon the committee agreed to engage the California man, the republicans in the senate, except Coughlin, voting against it.

"STOMACH PUMP" TRIALS STOPPED

10 Remaining Cases Held Open—Two Acquittals and One Dismissment.

Trial of the third "stomach pump" case, presented by the state of Illinois, is the defendant ended in a disagreement by a Beloit municipal court jury which was discharged at 12:40 p. m. Thursday after it had deliberated for nearly a day.

The jury was deadlocked at the hour, with seven for conviction and five for acquittal.

With three cases tried, one having ended in a disagreement and two in acquittal, it was announced Friday that no further trials of the 10 remaining cases based on the report of evidence will be made at this time.

$10 Per Conviction

Regardless of the merits of the cases presented by the state of Illinois, the main factors in the failure to secure convictions, the fact that the state operative, E. R. Brooks, who secured the evidence, was to be paid $10 for each conviction.

To effect the stomach pump method of securing evidence was on the average four or five times the cost of the usual method of securing evidence, and the cost of the stomach pump method was on the average four or five times the cost of the usual method of securing evidence.

Sam Garofalo, Beloit soft drink operator, who was found guilty by a jury of selling liquor to Beloit policemen, was sentenced to jail by Judge "Pink" to four months in the county jail Thursday. Upon motion of Garofalo's attorneys, a stay of execution was granted, and the case was postponed until April 16 was granted.

Mid-April Snow Storm Hits City

TILDEN GUERNSEYS SOLD AT AUCTION
Rock County Breeders Take 31 Head of Famous Herds—Average $165.24.

In one of the best purchased cattle sales of the season, the famous Tilden Guernsey herd was dispersed at the farm near Delavan on Thursday, 104 head bringing $17,185, an average of $165.24.

Rock county buyers purchased 21 head of the choice cattle, including several good show ring prospects.

John W. Crist, Deloit, owning a farm near Clinton was the largest buyer at the sale, taking 22 head, including six daughters of Upland's Royal, the herd bull that sold in the auction for $346. The age bull went to William Harmon and Son, Arkansas, W. J. Crist will use this stock as the foundation for a blooded Guernsey herd on his farm, replacing a collection of high grade cattle.

Douglas Buys Heifers

The high cow sold was imported Astoria and going to L. Markle, Barrington, Ill., for $450. Markle purchased a herd bull from Dr. W. A. Morgan, Janesville, for $1,500, and out of Duchess of Arroyo with an official record of 475 pounds of fat.

Taylor Brothers, Janesville, purchased a grand old heifer, a daughter of King, a famous Wisconsin Guernsey show bull, out of a daughter of Upland's Royal.

The Minn purchased five head, including several good show ring prospects, carrying the Valentine blood line. Several of these animals will be candidates for show ring honors the coming season.

W. C. Douglas, Deloit, purchased four cows, one a daughter of Nicholas' Primula 4th, the prize aged Guernsey shown in the Rock county Guernsey herd last year and a heifer daughter of Upland's Royal.

Exceptional Sale

The outstanding show animal of the sale, Upland's Daisy of Tilden Farm, a two year old female, sold to E. Fox, Waukesha county for $340.00.

Carl Grey, Richland Center, purchased several females and after the auction selected a 19 month old bull calf for a herd bull from the W. J. Douglas farm. This calf is named Lizette's Beauty, sired by Norwood of Poncey, the top cow of the Rock county won eight blue ribbons on last year, and out of a cow with two official records, the highest being 471 pounds of fat.

Considerable of the herd went into Illinois. The sale average is considered exceptional in that many calves, mature cows with some under defects were all sold in the dispersal of the famous herd. The sale was clean cut, with a lively interest and good attendance.

The Tilden farm is being taken over by Dr. Robert W. Morgan, breeder of registered Milking Shorthorns and also having grade Guernseys.

Coyner lists among the major projects of the county an extensive alfalfa and linum program, sweet clover and orchard demonstrations, and practical trials of suitable crops on marsh soils.

DOOR CO. JUNIORS TAKE FARM ACCOUNTING

Door county is teaching her young farmers to keep accounts.

Twelve County Agent E. G. Bailey points out, 45 farm account books have been distributed among the eighth grade pupils of the county, the prospective teachers at the Door-Kewaunee normal school and directly to the farmers of the county.

The pupils are working out a typical set of farm transactions for a year, for part credit in their eighth grade arithmetic.

"This method," says Bailey, "has the triple object of introducing the book, giving the pupils our prospective farmers—an idea of the business of side farming, and in many cases developing a bookkeeper for the home farm in the present son or daughter."

The county agricultural committee, consisting of Ralph Jenquin, chairman; William J. Gilson, secretary; George DeKester, Lester Brounch and James Wilson, is strongly backing this project.

CHEESE FEDERATION SETS A NEW MARK

By handling nearly 25,000,000 pounds of cheese in 1923, the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation has achieved a new high mark in its progress.

According to Theodore Machin, economist of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation is one of the most successful and commendable examples of farmers' co-operation in the United States. A comparison of its costs of doing business with those of other leading kinds of farmers' co-operative companies has shown that next to the California Fruit growers' exchange, which is the largest single and most successful farmers' co-operative company in the United States, the federation has the lowest operating cost.

For the 10 years during which this institution has functioned, it has marketed over 125,000,000 pounds of Wisconsin cheese, and records show that the organization has done this work at the remarkably low operating expense of 2.21 cents on the dollar. During the 10 years this organization has paid 2.11 per cent of the money received for cheese to the factories.

JEFFERSON MARKETS HIGH QUALITY EGGS

Jefferson county may become noted for something besides stuffed roose.

According to County Agent J. M. Coyner, the department of market, the poultry department of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, local egg buyers and the farmers of the county are co-operating these days.

SWINE PASTURES PAY IN RESULTS

Feeding Trials Show Value of Alfalfa, Clover, Rape and Soy Beans.

The old-fashioned pig sty is fast finding its rightful place—in the past history of Wisconsin's agriculture. In its place are here, fresh pastures—pastures for hogs.

According to H. J. Brant, swine specialist of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, the use of pastures for hogs is steadily increasing among hawkeye farmers. Every year sees more hog growers utilizing this method of economical production.

"There is no question about the worth of the practice," declares Brant. "In 11 feeding trials comparing alfalfa or clover pasture with dry lot feeding, pigs fed corn and tankage on alfalfa or clover pasture gained 121 pounds daily and required 275 pounds of corn and 24 pounds of tankage for each 100 pounds gain. Those fed corn and tankage in dry lot gained only 113 pounds daily and required about 11 per cent more corn and 17 per cent more tankage for each 100 pounds gain."

Pasture Brings Money.

In these trials an acre of alfalfa or clover pasture saved 1,149 pounds of corn and 488 pounds of tankage as compared with the dry lot feeding. Some hay was also cut from the pasture lots. With corn at 50 cents and tankage at $80 per ton, the saving of feed per acre of pasture was $22.53. Creditting the hay removed at $7.50 per ton, the total value of an acre of pasture was $34.25. At present prices of corn the value of such pasture will be still higher.

An average of 12 similar trials on rape pasture, according to Brant, showed an acre of rape pasture saved 1,007 pounds of corn and 799 pounds of tankage as compared to the dry lot feeding. At the same prices the saving of feed per acre of rape pasture was $38.01.

Other Advantages.

Another advantage in the pasture system is the more rapid gains made by the pigs on pasture, bringing them to market weight at an earlier age.

During 1923 a number of pasture demonstrations were conducted on Wisconsin farms. George Lathers, Rock county, raised 32 pigs on red clover pasture, netted 174 lbs. and tankage, at a feed cost of $130 for each 100 pounds gain and secured an average daily gain of 1.16 pounds.

Paul Walker, Grant county, raised 121 pigs, first on blue grass pasture and then on red clover pasture, feeding corn, ground oats, oil meal, tankage, skim milk and housing down 10 acres of corn. These pigs made an average daily gain of 1.12 pounds at a feed cost of $1.45 per 100 pounds gain.

Pastures for growing fattening pigs, Brant points out, increases the rate of gain, cuts down the expense of the gains, makes the animals thrifty, and reduces the loss from diseases. He names alfalfa, red clover rape, and soybeans as among the best pasture plants.

DOUBLE ALFALFA ACREAGE IN WIS.

R. A. Moore Predicts Decided Increase in Legume Crops, Alfalfa and Soybeans.

Madison—Wisconsin will more than double her alfalfa and soybean acreage this year.

This significant statement was made by R. A. Moore, agronomist of the college of agriculture, here in commenting upon the forage crop situation this season.

"We had about 150,000 acres of alfalfa in 1923," says Moore. "There is every indication that we will easily surpass the 300,000 acre mark during 1924. One of the main reasons for this growth in the confidence for alfalfa is the seed proposition. Wisconsin farmers used to depend upon the west for their seed. They felt that they had to have the hardy, western grown seed in order to insure an alfalfa crop under Wisconsin conditions."

"But in 1920," explains the well known plant breeder, "our every effort was spent upon the successful production of alfalfa seed in Wisconsin. We secured 2,500 bushels of the home-grown seed in 1921. In 1922 we increased the amount to 2,000 bushels, and last year we had 4,000 bushels. We have found that we can grow eight bushels of fine Griny alfalfa seed per acre, a very creditable yield."

Another reason for the increasing favor of alfalfa is the practical safety of the crop where time is used if the soil is acid. Alfalfa can be grown successfully except on the very light sands and low marshes. If the soil is limed; it is put on well-drained land, clay or clay loam preferred; and if the seed is inoculated.

Soy Beans Popular

"Soybeans were scarcely known in our state before 1920," declares Moore. The experiment station grew the first ones ever grown in Wisconsin. For several years we hesitated about giving out much information with regard to the plant, but since the trials have shown the general success and the feeding value of the soybean, its acreage has increased steadily."

NEW BOOK AFFORDS INSIGHT INTO U. S. CAPITALIST SOCIETY

Through the many requests for the volume, "Rough Riders of Washington," picturing Washington society as it is, has been placed in the public library, and will undoubtedly prove one of the most popular fiction books published recently. The entire work is written in a chatty, informal manner, with intimate pictures of the women who give and attend the dinners, receptions, teas, and parties where the games of politics and society are merged, and includes a chapter on Mrs. Coolidge, telling how her son, Mike, played in the White House kitchen, and dozens of other items, unimportant—but interesting.

Two volumes of poems by Edgar A. Guest, the most widely read living poet, have also been added. The collections of poems are published under the titles of "The Path to Home" and "When Day is Done."

New fiction consists of another novel by Rafael Sabatini, "Mistress Willing," and "The Squire" by Laura E. Richards, a sequel to "In Hushed Cygnus."

$5,000 RAISED IN Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN.

With two days left in which to reach the goal of $5,000, Y. W. C. A. drive returns up to Thursday night totaled $5,018. Leaders were optimistic that the full amount will be raised.

"We are banking on the loyal efforts of 150 women workers and Miss Ruth Jeffers, president. The most perfect campaign preparations and methods will not get results without the earnest effort of those who believe in this thing we are doing because of personal knowledge."

"We have very little in the way of reports thus far from several hundred cards of persons who have given smaller amounts in previous campaigns. Large numbers of young women employed in business and industry have always responded to the full extent of their ability, and we look for a good report from our industrial teams this year."

"The enthusiasm of our workers has not abated and we are confident that this fine spirit will carry us over the top by Saturday night."

PRESBYTERIANS IN ANTI-WAR BALLOT

Resolution Is Adopted at Be-loft Session of Madison Presbytery.

An ovation opposed to war was adopted at the closing session of the Madison Presbytery at Be-loft, Thursday afternoon, 20 to 22. The resolution, similar to the one passed by the Chicago Presbytery recently, was adopted after a night and a day of discussion.

A large delegation of Janesville Presbyterians attended. The fall meeting of the Presbytery will be held at Menominee, Sept. 2, and the next spring conference at Richland Center, April 2. The Rev. W. D. Williams, pastor of the Park Side church, Madison, was elected delegate to the general assembly at Grand Rapids, Mich., May 22. Howard Hoffman, Richland Center, is the lay delegate.

An ovation to unite the Presbyterian and Congregational churches was defeated, 19 to 8.

There was much debating of the question of adopting the anti-war resolution. "I hang my head in shame," declared the Rev. C. E. Adams, pastor of the Christ Presbyterian church, Madison, "when I think of some of the things our ministers did during the last war. At Madison I heard a minister stand on the steps of the capitol building and tell a lot of war lies in order to stir up people to hate and fight each other."

Dr. Hunt declared that some persons believe governments should be recognized above the commands of God. God should be obeyed first, he declared. The war spirit is rampant in the churches of the world. He stated that he had written a letter to the editor of the Madison Journal, in which he had urged the vote for adoption of the anti-war resolution.

MONGOLIAN INDIAN ANCESTOR, CLAIM

Scientist Says Forefathers of Redskin Crossed from Siberia.

Santa Barbara, Cal. — That the American Indians had an ancestor in common with the Mongolian tribes of Siberia and crossed to Alaska over the Bering sea are conclusions of John P. Harrington, of the Smithsonian Institution.

Mr. Harrington arrived at this belief after extensive research on the Pacific coast. He fixes the discovery of America by the Indians at more than 20,000 years ago. Explaining his belief that the Indians went directly to Alaska across the Bering sea, instead of over the chain of Aleutian islands at a time when the islands may have been an isthmus connecting the two continents, he says:

"From a long strip of Siberian coast the Alaskan shore is in plain sight across Bering strait, which at one point is only 50 miles in width. The two small Diomed islands also help to break the passage. This strip of water at times is frozen over and could have been crossed either on the ice or in boats which were made by the Indians even at the earliest times."

Mr. Harrington discounts the theory advanced by some anthropologists that the Indians migrated from the Polynesian islands.

"From my studies of the Indian races of the Pacific coast I believe the Indians, after crossing from Siberia, gradually spread from Alaska down the Pacific coast and thence over all North and South America. This is based on the similarity of physical characteristics, the widespread occurrence of customs and myths and an exhaustive study of the languages."

JAP AMBASSADOR SAYS AGREEMENT RIGIDLY OBSERVED

Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Hayashi.

In re-affirming the principle of the agreement, the Japanese ambassador's letter to Secretary Hughes denied charges by Pacific coast senators that the understanding has not been observed scrupulously. It was asserted that Japan was willing to continue the arrangement in force with full promises of its observance, but would look with serious doubt upon proposals for a more drastic exclusion provision.

Attention Possible.
The ambassador expressed hope that full consideration would be given to the "grave consequences" which the proposed exclusion clause in the immigration bill would bring on otherwise happy and beneficial relations between the two nations.

Ambassador Hayashi said his government would be willing to enter negotiations looking to modification or change of the "agreement" if that seemed necessary.

Heretofore, the international understanding between Washington and Tokyo on the subject has been based on a long succession of exchanges and precedents and the exact terms of the "agreement" have never been reduced to precise form.

Would Cause Reaction.
Secretary Hughes, in reply, said the ambassador's statement of the essential points in the "agreement" correspond with his own understanding of the arrangement.

PLAY PRESENTED IN JUNIOR HIGH

Classes of Miss Mary Howard presented a play, "Persius and Andromeda," in Latin, before the junior high school assembly Friday morning.

The principal part, that of the king was taken by Walter Nichols, while other main characters were impersonated by Dorothy Atwood, Gladys Inman, Robert Cullen and Ruth Scheel. The story was explained by Elizabeth Chase.

Successful Convention of Northwest Missionary Society Comes to Close

After two days' session with many notable addresses and conference meetings of committees, officers of the Northwest branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society closed their convention here Friday afternoon with a program given largely by the missionaries, who told of their experiences in foreign lands. More than 150 women attended the dinner served at the Methodist church Friday noon between the morning and afternoon session.

Mrs. Hattie L. Ashbury, Indianapolis, Ind., corresponding secretary for Indiana conference, opened the morning meeting with devotions. Mrs. John E. Best, Arlington, Heights, Ill., branch recording secretary, gave a report of the quarterly meeting held in Chicago in January and Miss Wilkerson, Chicago, who has charge of the literature of the branch, told of the business accomplished at this meeting.

Workers Make Reports
"Facts and Figures" was the subject for the talk given by Mrs. H. E. Clark, Chicago, editor of various missionary papers. Mrs. A. G. Neal, Warsaw, Ind., superintendent of the juniors of the branch, told of the work accomplished during the year by her department and Mrs. F. H. Sheets, Evanston, Ill., editor of missionary text books and the extension secretary, explained the work of the extension department.

Conference secretaries who reported were Mrs. A. H. Ashbury, Indianapolis conference; Mrs. W. H. Wilkerson, North Indiana conference; and Mrs. Howard A. Musser, Detroit conference. "The Home Base Laboratory" was discussed by Mrs. J. N. Todd, Benton Harbor, Mich., who told of the service for successful missionary work.

Miss E. L. Sinclair again introduced the missionaries who appeared at the meeting. Thursday night, each giving a brief talk on her work.

Introductions were in order at the close of the program. Mrs. Austin T. Webb, president of the branch, presenting Mrs. George Jacob, president of the Janesville district, and Mrs. George S. Clark, president of the local W. F. M. S. who made possible the convention.

Mrs. Walter J. Wones, Milwaukee, conference secretary for Wisconsin conference introduced the following women of her district: Mrs. Wheeler, treasurer of Wisconsin conference; Mrs. Hovey, corresponding secretary for field support in this conference; Mrs. F. T. Richards, Janesville secretary of young people's work in the conference; Mrs. A. A. Murston, secretary for children's work; Miss Lucena Irish, president of the Milwaukee district; Mrs. Ernest Rhoades, president of the Appleton district; Mrs. J. H. Pastors in attendance were asked to rise and be presented. They were the Rev. Webster Miller, Janesville; the Rev. Mr. Bailey, Edgerton; the Rev. Mr. Baunderson, Orfordville; the Rev. R. H. Jones, Stoughton; the Rev. S. McChesney, Milwaukee; Mrs. Taylor, Orfordville, and Mrs. J. Strang, this city, who have been members of the Woman's Foreign Flag Codes for Everybody.

By action of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Janesville, a sufficient number of four-page leaflets has been secured to deliver to all the children in the schools a copy of the flag code of the United States. From time to time the Gazette has printed this code. Each year on the days on which the flag is usually displayed the Gazette is called upon to answer the several questions which arise as to how the flag should be hung, where the field ought to be and which way
 the stripes should be draped. All these questions will be answered by the flag code and flag regulations to be distributed in the public schools. It might also be well for public demonstration of the code so that the children will be familiarized with the significance of various manners of displaying the flag. Always alert in the cause of citizenship and patriotic devotion to the ideals of America, the D. A. R. has here done a real service to the community. The codes should be taken to the homes and preserved for reference.

If the same kind of evidence is admitted in the Wheeler case that Wheeler has been using to smirch republicans he will be found unanimously guilty. But the courts do not permit such evidence so he has a chance.

Stinnes.

Stinnes is dead and the news brings the same thrill to the world that it would receive were it chronicled that a tiger of known ferocity had been killed in its cage.

No such sinister figure cumber the pages of history as Stinnes. Men have made millions from exploiting fractions of a nation but never has a man so conquered his own people as Stinnes.
 He was not a ruler in the fashion that goes with rule but no man has been a greater dictator. No man in modern times has so mercilessly and pit-tilessly destroyed lives and happiness of a people
 as has Stinnes. With him out of the picture, Germany may come back into its own as a people. Alaric and his barbarians, Attila and his Huns, sweeping away homes and destroying cities and villages, were no more to be execrated than Stinnes. He destroyed the value of a nation's currency, made thousands poor, purchased industries on time and waited for time to destroy the value of the purchasing money so he might obtain the properties at a song, and in this way
 built himself into power.

Stinnes may be buried with the pomp of a great funeral and hired mourners may sing his praises, but in the hearts of the German people
 his monument will be built in hate and execration.
 A great figure? Yes, great in ruthlessness and destruction of ideals. Those in America who would emulate his example in acquiring wealth
 will better pause and ponder over what Stinnes, cold and unimpressive flesh now, has gained
 by his life.

The democratic vote of Michigan still rattles
 in unison with Ford.

The Wisconsin Vote.

There are 1,200,000 citizens entitled to vote,
 in Wisconsin and the total vote cast for delegates to the national convention, republican and democratic, is 245,022. The majority of high man, Blaine, in the republican list for La Follette over the Coolidge vote for Phillips, is 52,535. The total democratic vote is 55,059. Of course neither vote represents an expression of the opinion of the state. It is a pitiful minority. It was originally believed that any effort to make a campaign for the selection of Coolidge delegates would be foolish as there is in the state
 no republican organization except what may be in the hands of the La Follette followers. There was no campaign of any consequence made by the Coolidge delegates at large while Blaine and others of the state state, having plenty of time,
 made many speeches and traveled over Wisconsin
 in the contest.

What we have in Wisconsin is what is general
 in most of the states at this time—minority rule
 as shown by the vote in the several recent elections.

The actors' strike is throwing 10,000 chorus girls out of a job but they may all open beauty parlors or go to the home for the aged.

The Silver Dollar Robbery.

The other day when Senator Pepper came back from Maine where he had made a notable speech, an honest speech, and a fearless speech, he was the target of several democratic senators. One of them was Senator Key Pittman of Nevada who spoke feelingly of the corruption exposed by the several truck-raking committees now showing daily on the Washington stage. There are some sad things about administration of affairs which are not fundamentally bad but are concerned with the personal interest and result from the man rather than the system.

Here is Mr. Pittman attempting to force the government to purchase 14 1/2 million ounces of silver at a dollar an ounce when the market price is 64 cents. That is a raid on the treasury of $5,220,000. During the war, in the hectic days of careless legislation and undigested enactments,
 we agreed to replace the 250 millions of silver

The Obligations of Citizenship

By FREDERICK J. HANKIN.

Washington.—Is citizenship in England or in Germany of greater value than citizenship in the United States? Are the English or Germans better citizens than Americans?

The man who ventured to ask these questions and answer them affirmatively in the presence of any considerable number of Americans might find himself subjected to rough treatment. At least he would be treated with ridicule or contempt or his assertions would be met with indignant denials.

Nevertheless, these are questions that are asked by thoughtful leaders of national affairs in this country who say that if the answers are to be taken from election returns then it is high time for Americans to stop, look and listen. The record, on the face of these statistics, is against us.

In England in the last parliamentary election
 more than 80 per cent of the total number of possible voters actually went to the polls and cast their ballots, while in Germany 89 per cent of the possible electorate voted.

In the last general election in the United States
 less than 50 per cent of the total possible vote
 was actually cast.

According to the last census there are 54,000,000
 possible voters in this country, but in the presidential election of 1920 only 26,000,000 men and women exercised the great prerogative of their American citizenship. In the congressional elections of 1922 and the congressional elections of almost as great importance as the presidential —20,000,000. Making due allowances for the number of colored citizens in Southern States who could not vote if they wanted to and tried to do so, it is still apparent that not more than half of our citizens value their citizenship enough, or have a sufficient feeling of their responsibility and duty as citizens, to go to the polling places on election day.

Striking figures may be cited in connection with the election of United States senators. In Iowa, for example, where the percentage of illiteracy is the lowest of any state in the union, and where consequently the standards of citizenship should be the highest, Senator Brookhart was elected by 29 per cent of the total possible vote. There are 1,367,212 citizens of voting age in Iowa, and the total for senator was but 415,544, of which Senator Brookhart received 383,751.

Senator Copeland of New York, was elected by 25 per cent of the total possible vote in that state; Senator Shivers of Minnesota, 26 per cent;
 Senatorrazier of North Dakota, 26 per cent;
 Senator Dill of Washington, 17 per cent;
 Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, 28 per cent;
 Senator Johnson of California, 29 per cent;
 Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, 22 per cent; Senator Pepper, Pennsylvania, 15.9 per cent.

In the days when candidates for office were nominated by conventions, the failure of a large element of the citizenry to vote was explained frequently on the grounds that the average voter really has no voice, the selection of candidates and hence was naturally disinterested in election day. Buses and party machines easily dominated conventions, it was argued, and practically decided the results of elections before they were held.

Hence the adoption of the primary system of nominations was urged and it was predicted that if this could be brought about the immediate result would be not only a higher grade of public officials but the participation of practically all qualified voters in the primaries and elections.

But with the primary system generally in effect throughout the nation no such results have been shown. Almost invariably the vote at primaries is lighter than at elections, and the figures with respect to the latter have been quoted.

"The priceless privilege of American citizenship" has long been one of the stock phrases with which we have vaunted our national pride, just as it was the proud boast of the ancient Roman that he was a citizen of the Eternal City was to be greater than any other. But if citizenship is a priceless privilege, how can any man or woman who enjoys it fail to take advantage of it when primary or election day comes around? The only answer to that is that an amazing number of men and women, most of them of average intelligence, at least, do not do that very thing!

Much is heard nowadays of the popular unrest and dissatisfaction with the government or the manner in which the government is conducted, and various panaceas have been proposed. Most of them contemplate a change in the federal constitution. One group wants to make it easier to amend the constitution. Another seeks to limit the power of the supreme court to declare acts of congress unconstitutional.

A more recent proposal, of which much will be heard during the coming presidential campaign,
 is that steps should be taken to make the "priceless privilege of American citizenship" really priceless. The way to do this is to take it away from those who do not appreciate it, it is argued.

Briefly stated, the idea is that the citizen who fails to vote, and who can not present an acceptable excuse, shall be disfranchised for two years
 upon his first offense, for four years upon his second offense, and for all time to come upon his third offense. Thus the right of the ballot, as the badge of citizenship, will be made to impose an obligation or a duty upon all who wear it.

Members of certain fraternal societies who do not attend meetings regularly and otherwise discharge the obligations of their membership may forfeit their membership or be fined or disfranchised. Should an American citizen owe a lesser obligation to his government than to his lodge?

Back of the idea of compulsory voting, under penalty of being disfranchised, is the belief that when every citizen must vote he will not only take the trouble to acquaint himself with the character, record and capacity of candidates for public office but will also want to know in detail just how his government is constituted and how it functions. That, obviously, will make for intelligent citizenship.

When George Washington predicted that the federal constitution would endure as long as there remained "any virtue in the body of the people" he pointed out that one of the menaces to it would be "distress" for the preservation of the national and inalienable rights of mankind. He also said that "eternal vigilance" is the price of liberty, and he might have added that the exercise of the priceless privilege of citizenship
 is the first essential of eternal vigilance.

dollars sold to Great Britain with purchases of bullion silver at a dollar an ounce.

Now Senator Pittman has introduced a resolution calling on the director of the mint to make this present to the silver miners of his state. The silver bought by Britain was sent to India to stabilize the rupee and to stop the impending revolution. The fit advised, selfish and irrational legislation has already put many millions of dollars in the pockets of the silver miners because they have been receiving a dollar an ounce when silver has been worth in the markets only 60 or 70 cents an ounce.

The silver dollar is out of use as far as the general public is concerned. Seldom is one seen in this section and few anywhere else. There was a time when the west and southwest demanded hard money but the paper of the United States is worth a hundred cents on the dollar all over the world. Coinage of silver now is merely paying out the people's money for miners' profits.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE MYSTERY.

We live and ponder the way of it,
 And what is it all about;
 The world and the arching sky of it,
 The battle, the gain, the rout.
 The man who has dabbled his years in pain,
 The man who has suffered to be a sinner,
 The boy held fast by a flaming dream—
 Are they all a part of this mortal scheme?

We live and share in the sigh of it,
 And slowly the march moves on;
 We join in the hue and cry of it,
 Yet steadily one by one,
 Each to a curious urge, but you
 In the trade of words this life is spent,
 And that one fashions in steel and stone,
 The thing he dreams when he sits alone.

But back of the glistening eye of it,
 And back of the hammer's blow,
 And the towers men fling to the sky of it,
 The great souls greater grow.
 Men paint and write, and build and sing,
 To the urge of that strange, serious thing
 Which whispers that death is another birth,
 And the whole of this life isn't lived on earth.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, APRIL 12, 1924.

Although Uranus is in benefic aspect early in the morning of this day, astrologers find conditions most of human unalloyed and activities. The Sun, Venus and Mars are all in malefic way.

While the mental processes should be stimulated by the kindly rule of Uranus, there may be a tendency to see difficulties as well as opportunities during the business hours of this day.

It is not an auspicious time to seek the interest of capitalists in new projects or to promote any business.

All the signs appear to indicate a quiet time in many commercial lines and a tendency toward the most conservative financial policies.
 Women are subject to limited influences today and they should postpone all efforts toward personal advancement or philanthropic movements.

Under this planetary government antagonism between the sexes is likely to be manifested, re-spectably in politics.

Mars is in a place making for arrogance and selfishness among men and a tendency for each
 to seek his own best interests.

This direction of the stars makes for party spirit in politics and disloyalty of leaders.

The stars declare that in the national campaign the most dangerous forces at work will be those employed secretly by persons who oppose members of their own party.

Presidential politics is now subject to a planetary government making for many inconsistencies, clashing interests and numerous perplexities, but he has a lucky star that brings many surprises.

After the summer quarter begins the government at Washington will be subject to improved conditions, the seers prophesy.

Persons whose birthday it is may have rather a strenuous and exciting year. They should be indulging in too many pleasures, for they will be tempted to neglect the serious things
 of life.

Children born on this day may be exceedingly talented and temperamental. These subjects should probably will be restless, easily bored and fond of change. They should be trained to systematic habits.

Off the test tube will reveal
 Approaching troubles we don't feel.

It isn't what one comes across, in this world,
 but who.

On restaurants,
 My memory lingers,
 Where butters served
 With dirty fingers.

To see the average American at supper you'd think it was his last.

Turning merchandise for a profit, at the expense of health, is a loss.

 As he bottled his wine:
 "John W. Peck, my liquor Shall never touch mine."

SCALDS AND BURNS

Before resuming the regular lessons
 in the course we are giving in domestic medicine and emergency remedies for readers who want to know how to use the medicine cupboard, we had better dwell just what we shall do for scalds and burns. The latest lesson we're giving is on pretty regularly Tuesday and Fridays and you had better save 'em till you have the complete course for a little guide book
 to keep in your medicine cupboard
 was about the way not to handle wounds.

The most satisfactory remedy or treatment as yet found for scalds and burns, both as regards the comfort of the patient and the healing of the injury, is the use of the petroleum dressing, but that requires special skill and special apparatus. For the first aid treatment of scalds and burns
 at home probably the next best thing
 is sterile petroleum jelly (petrolatum), which serves a purpose similar to that which the paraffin wax dressing serves, namely, to protect the burn from raw surface from contact with the air and to prevent the clothing or dressings from sticking to the raw surface. The paraffin wax film directly protects the burn and the that healing may go on unimpeded. A covering of neutral unguent like petroleum jelly serves the same purpose, but less effectively. The petroleum jelly is more quickly absorbed, by absorption through the dressings or by being washed away or wiped away;
 whereas the paraffin wax film lasts a long time. That is the only important difference.

For small scalds and burns, instead of the plain petroleum jelly, a generous covering with the "Old Doc ointment," which will be described in a later lesson in this course, may prove more soothing for pain.

An old and rather uncleanly
 dressing for burns was charn oil—a mixture of most of equal parts of lime
 water and linseed oil or olive oil,
 which has no place in the modern medicine cupboard.

Sensible folk should know that the best way to prevent scalds is to get the wound, lesion or burn most promptly healed, and the best way to do that is by the application of surgical cleanliness and intelligence. It is foolish to cover a burn with any kind of medicament can prevent scalds if the tissue has been sufficiently damaged by the injury or disease. The irony of this is that the scalds, for it isn't my doing—the irony of it is that many a burn which would have healed rapidly
 under clean and intelligent care is retarded by the resort to some unhealthy remedy so that a scar is made inevitable where proper care might have prevented it.

The treatment of severe sunburn is the same as that of ordinary burns and severe degrees. Burns are described as first degree, second degree and third degree when there is actual destruction of tissue. A blister, which relieves the case by making the precautions about surgical cleanliness necessary. Ordinarily it is better not to break a blister, but if it is broken burns (unless the fluid is purulent matter) instead of watery fluid. Try to protect the blisters with the dress-

Q. How many Mohammedans are there in the United States?
 A. It is estimated that there are about 20,000 on this continent.

Q. What were the terrible horrors of the Boer war?
 A. The most important were the catnaps, the ballists, and the "wild men." The last was not used until after Caspers' time.

Q. Is there a plant which has with it, the daytime usually revive
 at night, even though no rain falls?
 H. N. G.

A. The department of agriculture says plants which have withered during the day recover at night because the increased atmospheric humidity during the night greatly reduces the loss of water from the leaves. When the continued absorption of water by the roots enables the leaves to regain the lost water and again become turgid.
 However, if the water content of the soil is below the minimum at which the plant can absorb water from that particular soil, no recovery takes place even in a saturated atmosphere.

Q. How do the leaves of a plant absorb water?
 A. The leaves of a plant absorb water through the stomata. The stomata are small openings in the leaf which are surrounded by two cells. The cells are so arranged that they can open and close. When the cells are open, water can enter the leaf through the stomata.
 When the cells are closed, water cannot enter the leaf through the stomata.

A White Clay

Which France perfected gave me perennial youth

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am the most talked-of woman in America, because of perennial youth. I feel 35 years as a stage star. I look to be a girl of 19.

Many years ago I became the rage in New York. I made myself a new skin. I used a French skin cream, the use of clay.

THE MAN WITH A LIMP

COMMENT ON THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR APRIL 13, 1924.

Read I Kings, Chapters 16 to 21.

WM. SOUTHERN, JR.

There are those who say that the Christian religion has lost its grip, that people no longer care for the churches and that real religion is disappearing from our land. I do not subscribe to this idea at all. I believe that now more than ever before, men and women are trying to think clearly and are ready and willing at all times to give a hearing and want to be convinced. This is illustrated by the crowds which flock to hear the preacher with a little clearer vision of real religion and in the willingness of every newspaper to carry Bible texts and to give place and space which costs real money to religious topics.

There have been periods in history when it seemed that the Christian religion would be blotted out, but always an Elijah has appeared. Such a period fell upon the kingdom of Israel when Ahab was king. It was in the ninth century B. C. fifty years after Solomon had died and his son had divided the kingdom and Jeroboam had been selected a king. From Jeroboam to Ahab were five kings and three dynasties. So bloody were the times that the throne was seized twice, the king and every member of his family murdered and the murderer became the king.

Jeroboam himself started out with the Jewish belief in God. He did not want his people to go to Jerusalem for the annual temple pilgrimage so he built a temple himself and erected two golden images. These were to represent Jehovah. It was not then very far from the religion of the Canaanites which was Baalism. The Canaanites worshipped the gods of fertility, of production, of possession. Their temples were the high places in the mountains and the groves beneath the trees.

Ahab was the son of Omri and was a powerful king of Israel. He married the daughter of his neighbor, the King of Sidon and her name was Jezebel, a name which even now is a symbol of wickedness and temptation to wickedness. Jezebel seemed to have disappeared from these chosen people.

Into the picture comes a weird figure, a religious fanatic, a rough shepherds over his shoulders and with flaming eyes, Ahab and Jezebel were sitting in the court of their ivory palace when this figure suddenly appeared before them. They were so startled that when Elijah pointed his finger at them and declared that God would send a rain on the country until they gave the word, that before they recovered Elijah had disappeared.

Jezebel was furious. She started the hunt for Elijah and they were several chapters until the day of her infamous death. Turn to the story in the first book of Kings and read about Ahab, his wife, Jezebel, and the Prophet Elijah.

Elijah challenged the people to declare themselves. He asked "How long go ye limping between two sides and demanded that they stand out and take sides for God or against God. The challenge rang out and struck home and it is a live challenge today which I would like to send broadcast to the people of this United States in this twentieth century.

Elijah gave us another test for the present day. Ahab the King came to fear him and consider him as his enemy and when Jezebel had caused the death of Naboth and the King had fallen into his property, Elijah suddenly appeared and the King said:

"It is thou, thou troublest of Israel."

Many times have men in high places used this accusation to hinder their own ends. When the party in power becomes corrupt and some man through speech or in a newspaper exposes that corruption, he is at once accused of being a trouble to his party. It is so in Washington today. Men in high places attempted to smother the all investigation because it was hurting the party. It is a greater crime to hurt the party than to steal the government blind. If you can get away with it, Elijah answered the king correctly when he said:

"Not I am the trouble of Israel, but you who have forsaken God."

At one time Elijah was all in. He had fought his way out about to give up. He told God that he was the only good man left and they were about to kill him. God told him that there were 7000 who had not bowed the knee to Baal. The god people must have been surprised. So are we surprised often at men

127 EXAMINED AT 3 COUNTY CLINICS

Anti-Tubercular Venture Shows Need of Preventive Work.

The need for preventive tuberculosis work in Rock county was strikingly demonstrated last week when out of the 127 people examined at the free chest clinics of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association in Janesville, Clinton and Edgerton, 51 were found to be tuberculous, according to a report from the association.

Of these 51, 12 had presumably active tuberculosis, that is, cases in which the lesions are open and from which the danger of infection is greatest; 16 had healed lesions; one case was quiescent; there was one case of a tuberculous gland; two cases of tuberculous glands; and 23 cases in which the findings pointed to tuberculosis but in which no definite diagnosis could be made upon one examination.

"It is these latter cases that present the most hopeful aspects in the fight against tuberculosis," says the report. "For although tuberculosis is usually present in these cases, much preventive work can be done and the disease has usually progressed so little that it can readily be checked by the proper methods."

In Janesville 58 persons were examined and 27 of these were classified as tuberculous. Several of those in the tuberculosis class had been examined at the last clinic held in Janesville in 1922, and were found to be doing well. An unusually high percentage of organic heart disease cases was found at the Janesville clinic; 17 patients were found to have simple goiter; and 17 had had tooth conditions, including four cases of pyorrhea. Various disorders were found, 49 of the 58 being referred to physicians for treatment.

At Edgerton clinic, 61 of the 61 persons examined at the Edgerton clinic, 23 were classified as tuberculous; 22 had simple goiters; and 15 were referred to physicians for various other disorders.

In Clinton eight people were examined, and four found tuberculous. This was the first free chest clinic ever held in Clinton. It was conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association under the auspices of the Red Cross.

CALIFORNIA LAW SENDS JAPS EAST

Like the United States and Are Coming This Way to Find Homes.

San Francisco—Japanese farmers, forbidden by a California law to own or lease agricultural lands or to work them on a crop-sharing basis, are turning toward eastern and middle western centers of population, local Japanese say.

California, in turn, is looking to the east and middle west for thousands of white farmers to purchase, lease or work lands forced away from Japanese tillers. Throughout the state ways of attracting farmers are being discussed. The land offered includes some of the richest soil in the state.

The United States supreme court in several recent decisions has upheld the California alien land law. The latest decision upholds the provision forbidding aliens ineligible to citizenship from being employed on crop-sharing contracts. This ruling is said to have affected more than 20,000 Japanese, who until this fall were employed on California lands under crop-sharing contracts. Tens of thousands of highly productive acres were involved.

The immediate effect of the decision, it was said at the Japanese consulate and the Japanese chamber of commerce here, was for representatives of the Japanese to be sent into eastern states to survey the agricultural situation. The survey was reported to have indicated that many Japanese could find profitable employment as truck gardeners in districts surrounding the large cities. It also was learned that in most of these districts Japanese could lease or buy land without restriction.

Fight for Whites.
For years California has been waging a fight for a white state. The political fight has ended, the Japanese have given assurance that they will make no further effort to combat the law, but behind it all has been left a vast and acute economic problem of replacing Orientals on California farms.

The big land owners of California have been hit the hardest. The huge estates have been the largest employers of Japanese under leasehold and crop-sharing contracts. These estates still can employ Japanese as farm laborers for cash wages, but the Japanese is declared to be not nearly so efficient as a laborer as on crop-sharing basis. Furthermore, the Japanese themselves much prefer a proprietary interest in their undertakings, now forbidden in California, but possible in other states.

In many quarters the breaking up and sale of big estates is forecast. If necessary, they must be sold or leased in small parcels to farmers who can till the acreage by their own resources. Often the larger farms cannot afford to hire enough day laborers.

The Menace.
In 1920 William D. Stephens, then governor of California, reported to federal authorities at Washington that Japanese operated 455,056 acres of "the very best land in California," producing crops valued at $67,145,720. At that time the land cultivated by the Japanese was 16 percent of all the irrigated farms in the state. Many authorities say the percentage has increased largely in the intervening three years. The Japanese controlled many of the state's most valuable agricultural products. Most of this production now must come from white persons employed their own labor. Much of the produce finds its way into eastern

Sweethearts, Planning Marriage, Find They Are Orphaned Twins

A photo of the Buckley twins taken many years ago, and James and Josephine Buckley as they are today.

HOUSTON—Such are the tricks of fate, James Buckley and Josephine Buckley met at a dance a year ago. They were naturally attracted by the similarity of their names. In the course of time, James confessed his boundless love for her. "I love you, too, James," she told him.

They went to their parish priest to be married. He investigated their markings. Japanese still own and will farm 74,749 acres bought before the anti-alien laws became effective. Corporations owned or controlled by Japanese have an additional 21,000 acres. Neither the individuals nor the corporations can add to the present holdings.

Work for Money.
Hereafter Japanese in agricultural pursuit may work for money, but may not be paid in produce.

Chambers of Commerce and other organizations, including Californians Incorporated, a body devoted to furnishing authentic information about the state's resources, are trying to solve the problems involved, chief among which is that of procuring an influx of white farmers.

The Stockton chamber of commerce reported recently that unless white farmers could be obtained to till 40,000 acres in the rich San Joaquin Valley, until lately farmed by Japanese, these lands highly productive in potatoes, onions and celery must revert to barley cultivation.

In the Imperial Valley, at the southern end of the state, the supreme court's crop-sharing decision took Japanese from 50,000 acres of cotton lands.

Similar situations exist in other fruit and vegetable districts.

FORESTRY PROGRAM AFFECTS FARMERS

He Is the Greatest Consumer of Timber and Owns Most of Timber Lands.

Governors of all states have been urged by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to observe Forest Protection Week, April 21-27. In a letter to each governor, he emphasizes the need for stamping out forest fires, more than 25,000 of which occur in the United States every year.

Secretary Wallace, whose department is charged with the administration and protection of the national forests, points out that Forest Protection week is not for the benefit of any single class of citizens or business interests, but that the benefits resulting from forest fires fall on every citizen, since the United States consumes more wood than all other nations combined.

All governors are urged to issue proclamations designating April 21-27 as Forest Protection Week, and to declare Arbor Day during that period whenever possible to do so.

"Forest Protection week has become truly national in character," Secretary Wallace stated. "Although designated by the president, yet it is not an occasion of import to the federal government only. Every organization, public and private, can very properly take an active part in the endeavor to bring home to the American people the appalling losses caused by forest fires, about 50 per cent of which are caused by human carelessness. I therefore very earnestly solicit your aid in securing the observance of the week in your state."

"May I suggest in this connection that the economic importance of preventing forest fires and bringing about reforestation and full productive use of some 470,000,000 acres of land in the United States most valuable for growing timber is as yet only imperfectly understood."

"The practice of forestry is a part of diversified agriculture. Rural prosperity requires that the reclamation of idle lands through deforestation be halted and that in its place there shall come about not only the reclamation to productivity of the 80,000,000 acres of such lands with which the country is already burdened, but also scientific and wise use of the much greater area of lands still timbered."

"Fire control alone will not accomplish this, but it is the first step. A far-sighted policy of forestry is today one of our greatest public needs. Without public encouragement based on understanding, the general practice of forestry in this country to meet the needs of the nation will not come about."

In each wing of the estate 26 long planes, known to maturity in eight months. The male birds are white, and in the female are gray or yellowish.

Holland Cautious About Resuming Trade with Reds

The Hague—Holland will not rush to open trade relations with or recognize the Soviet Russia, declared Jan. 10, the foreign minister, said in the states general in answer to a question on the subject by a communist deputy. The government is giving its closest attention to the proposition and will be willing to open relations with Russia after the problems of pre-war finances have been settled, the minister said.

Former Emperor Adopts Habits of Simple Citizens

Osaka, Holland—William Holen, former German emperor, has taken to the habit of a stroll every Sunday afternoon, a practice that has been popular among the family men of Germany for many generations. The former ruler usually is accompanied by his wife, Empress Helena, and her three children, and the stroll is for an hour or two along the highways in the country stretching away from Wilhelm's castle.

Will Banquet American and Canadian Lawyers

London—The City of London corporation has unanimously resolved to give a state banquet in the Guildhall to the American and Canadian lawyers who are to visit London during the summer. The company, it is stated, will number 825, and the entertainment will be on the same lines as the famous Lord Mayor's banquet, which is held yearly on Nov. 9.

The record of the greatest number of notes struck by a mace in 12 hours is said to have been made by Paderewski, who struck 1,050,500 notes.
